Seems to be some "die for dear old Rutgers" spirit among residents of charming little hamlet of Pomona, which is somewhat harassed by smudge pots at present. Witness this verse, "Pomona Forever," by an inhabitant:

There's a ring around the bathtub,
My nose is full of smudge,
But, oh, I love Pomona—
Its smudge won't make me budge.

—Town Talk column,
Illustrated Daily News.

Flowers for the New Year—

Advertising the community improves the morale of that community, as well as revealing to outsiders that we have pride in those things which we possess.

The New Year's day chamber of commerce float, designed in flowers on a replica of the Lindbergh plane, is ready to take off at the great Pasadena classic. City and valley citizens will take pride in the fact that we are represented, and if the day be one of sunshine, God willing, a place on the parade sidelines will be a happy spot, not only for the youngsters but for all who refuse to grow old. Greet the new year with one of the loveliest gestures ever devised in any land, at the "say it with flowers" parade in the Crown City of the southland.

Wages of Sin—

There is no mystery in the violent deaths of prominent movie people, night club entertainers and playboys. Concrete evidence for court purposes is often missing, but abstract fact is so plain all may discern it.

When the laws of nature and man are flagrantly violated, suffering and death await as the inevitable result. None of us should assume a holier-than-thou attitude. It is not for any of us to sit in judgment upon individual and specific cases, but we can, and we must, go back to real causes, for if we fail to make the proper analysis we can never hope to prevent these so-called mysteries.

Driving home at three in the morning, with the fumes of an all-night liquor party in the brain, fixes the cause of death as alcohol poisoning and not monoxide, or the fact that a truck loomed up suddenly out of the fog.

Whether one of these much-advertised personages of screen and night life died from the hand of another or their own, is relatively unimportant. In most cases they died because they chose to flout and laugh at the fundamental laws that govern the well-being of mankind. Natural laws are never broken; we are broken by them in disobeying them.

Also Good for Citrus Growers—

With acres of oranges surrounding their homes, and with loaded fruit boughs almost within reach from their windows, many a citrus grower's family consumes less of the fruit than do they who buy by the dozen.

There are exceptions, especially since the fruit-juice campaigns have suggested to the rancher himself that his own fruit might be good for his own family. But the adage that familiarity breeds contempt or disinterest holds good in the matter of oranges as a part of the diet on an orange ranch.

Not only has the advertising campaigns of the citrus marketing organizations succeeded in establishing a favorable premise for citrus fruit as a health builder, but leaders in medical science not affiliated in any way with the citrus industry are strong advocates of the use of oranges, orange juice, lemons and grapefruit. Dr. Frank McCoy, nationally-known syndicate writer for many newspapers, points out the beneficial results from the use of these juices in correcting or preventing the rotter who organized a new bank in a poor town said he gave his stock-sales talk to so many in the community that at times he caught himself right on the verge of buying some of the stock himself. Perhaps a greater number of the citrus growers should are giving the public thru their marketing advertisements.

Federal Red Tape Strangulation—

The government's inability to make the Works Progress administration work is caused by centralization of control. Political centralization is insisted on because of a lack of confidence, greed for power, and inability.

When a city, a desirable and practical, local improvement and financed by the government, is given to that community government. As long as the government to support anyone the WPA will be, as it ever, a failure.

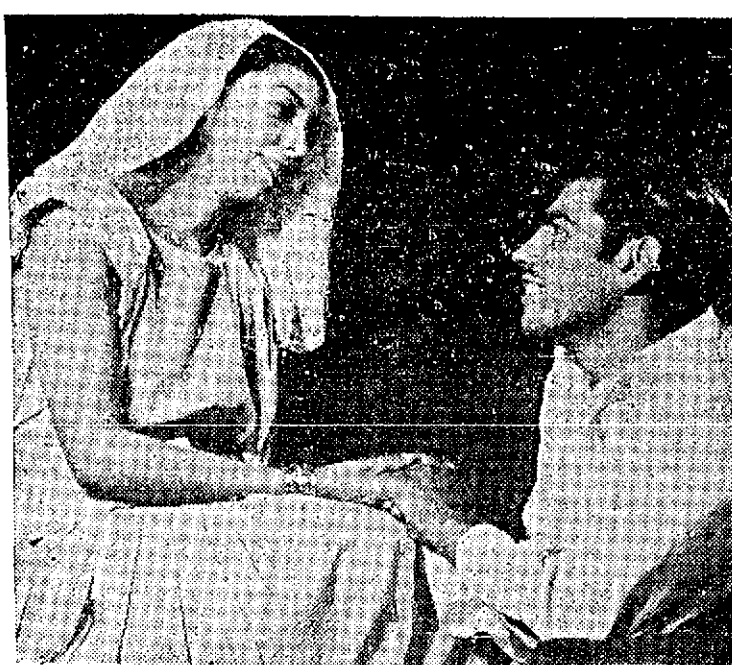

We all know that there is danger, almost a certainty, that a percentage of the appropriations will be squandered or misappropriated. It is lamentable that all men are not honest and competent, but it is more lamentable that ninety-eight per cent of the people are made to suffer because of two per cent are untrustworthy.

Centralization is the very opposite of the spirit of democracy. In this emergency we believe that the people by communities should be trusted to participate in and supervise their own work relief, discounting in advance a certain amount of incompetence and graft. If a central power could demonstrate that it could operate these projects efficiently, there could be little criticism of a reasonable amount of delay. But for three years now, these projects have been fumbled and have faltered and failed because of centralized alphabetical bureaucracy. Such dog-in-the-manger tactics are inhuman and inexcusable and defeat the purpose of the people, which is to bring relief out of an intolerable condition.

This country is actually governed and made possible by the governments of cities, townships, counties and states, not by any national group in Washington. Needed improvements are known to mayors, county supervisors and state officials, not by federal bureaucrats. What is needed is federal credit, with authority given to communities to spend money on projects of their own selection. Human misery is being prolonged every day while these projects are strangled in federal red tape.

Briefly defined, Social Credit is a method of taking what we produce, increasing it scientifically, and distributing it to all.
—PREMIER ABERHART,
Province of Alberta, Canada.

Social Credit is nothing new. It has been in the constitution of the United States since it was written.
—FATHER COUGHLIN,
Detroit Radio Priest.

Community Play Presents Lively Vein of Comedy

Reverent in its collaboration with Biblical history, yet screamingly funny in its deep simplicity is the play, "Noah," opening at the Pasadena Community Playhouse on Monday, December 30, and continuing thru January 11. In addition to the regular Saturday matinees there will be special matinees on Dec. 31, Jan. 1, 2 and 3.

Playwright Andre Osey has omitted nothing in depicting the building of the ark, the flood, of Noah and his family, and the animals. The wranglings of Ham, Shem, and Japheth and the day by day joys and sorrows of the ark family are frankly admitted.

Due to stir mountains of controversy will be the role of "Noah," to be portrayed by Gilmore Brown. Under the stress of his busy schedule, Mr. Brown has selected "Noah" as one of his few performances of the season.

Compensation Sought for Land Taken

Compensation for land taken by the flood control district for the construction of the now-abandoned railroad up San Gabriel canyon was demanded of the board of supervisors this week by attorneys for Henrietta and Miller E. Newman, landowners.

The claim recited that the district entered into a contract with the Newmans on November 23, 1926, for construction of the railroad line that was to transport the thousands of tons of cement and machinery to the site of the ill-fated high dam. The property was to be restored to the Newmans on or before December 31, 1931, their attorneys, Tscharnar and Miller of Azusa, stated.

Their property has not been returned, and approximately 125 oak trees have been removed, the grade and location of the railroad has been changed, and some of their property has been taken without any right, the claim set forth.

WarrBlings

by
Uncle Billy Warr

Our New Year resolution—that we will try to warble better WarrBlings during the coming year.

FOR THE NEW YEAR

I would be a little kinder
To those I meet next year,
I would that act of mine could make
A smile replace the tear.

I would that I might not forget
Letters friends have written me,
Remembering that when I write
A better friend I'll be.

I would that I might take the time
To call on those who may be ill,
To cheer a bit their weary lives—
I know I can if I have the will.

I would control my temper more
If things don't go as I think they should,
I would seek in men I do not like
Some trait they have I know is good.

I would then, in this year to come,
Try to make my life worth while,
Lord, help me with Thy guiding hand
To free my heart from greed and guile.

—W. E. W.

May the coming year bring you
all the happiness and prosperity
you deserve—and it will.

Roy Carter is back on the road again and of course has a lot of new stories to tell while he is here for the Christmas holidays. Here is one of them:

A man had promised a creditor that if he would meet him at the paymaster's window on the next payday he would pay him what he owed him. The debtor had forgotten about his promise and when he saw his creditor he demanded what he was owed and if I don't get what we're both hereafter, you don't get any credit hereafter."

Maybe that isn't just the way Roy told it but it will have to pass.

The president issued an order Monday terminating the NRA. Wonder if he had just heard that the supreme court terminated it several months ago?

Some time ago we mentioned in WarrBlings that we were out of jam for our morning toast and the next week our pantry shelves were filled. Sunday Doris Shirley was washing her set of "company" dishes and had the full service for eight on the kitchen table, when it collapsed, breaking all but three dishes. Now she wants us to mention it in our column in the hope that it will bring the same result that our jam story did.

It seems that even motion pictures do not mix with booze. It's funny about booze, the only thing that will mix with it is more booze.

CHRISTMAS EVE. This is a pretty fine old world and Covina is the finest spot in it, peopled with the kind of folks who make life really worth living. Tonight Warr-Bler's Roost is not the scene of the lonely Christmas eve we expected it to be. We are surrounded by the memory of friends who have been in to wish us the holiday greeting of the ages, "Merry Christmas," and under the little Christmas tree in the corner of the livingroom of our Roost there are many remembrances these friends have left—jams and jellies, home-made candy, fruit cake, a dressed rabbit, handkerchiefs, a necktie, a can of Edgeworth for our pipe, and one of those businesses you use to lift a hot skillet from the stove (and which we will probably never use, because it is so pretty). Then, of course, there are the gifts from our own loved ones that bring a heart-throb and a little feeling of loneliness because we cannot be with them tonight.

We want to thank our friends for remembering us. We can't seem to be able to express our feelings in words, but we do deeply appreciate the kindness that prompted them to think that we would be lonely tonight and perhaps a little blue and that some message from them might help to make the evening more cheerful.

There was one feature about the stack of cards we received that really touched our heart and that was that so many of the senders knew us only as "Uncle Billy," others as "Uncle Billy Warr," "Bill Warr," "Willam Ware," "Billy Ward," and one or two who addressed them in a very formal way, "Mr. Willam E. Warr." It just made us feel that the name didn't make any difference, it is us that they like—and it made us feel mighty good.

And so we hope that all of you had a very merry Christmas and the New Year will bring you friends who

Gas Company to Make Reduction in Rates

"Thousands of customers of the Southern Counties Gas company in Covina and vicinity will benefit thru the voluntary reduction in gas rates just announced with the approval of the California railroad commission," according to a statement issued today by W. E. Keefe, district manager of the company's properties in this vicinity.

"All of our customers whose homes are equipped with an automatic natural gas water heater and who use a gas range as well as gas heating equipment of certain minimum standards will obtain a fifteen per cent reduction or discount on that portion of the monthly bill between $2 and $25," continued Mr. Keefe.

It was pointed out by gas company officials today that the lower rate will bring the convenience of modern, natural gas service for the many household uses for which it is unusually well adapted, into more general use in southern California homes and at lower cost than ever before.

Extensive exploration and development of new oil and gas fields in California in recent years, together with the already existing supply in older oil and gas fields, assures an abundant supply of this modern fuel for many years to come.

The new rates become effective with bills rendered on all meter readings after February 15 and to be obtained must be applied for on blanks which the company will furnish and on which the consumer will list the gas appliances in use in order to qualify for the new low rate.

"Gas rates have steadily declined since 1913," said Mr. Keefe, "although the cost of other household commodities has steadily increased. This decrease in the rates for modern natural gas service is due in some degree to the widespread conviction thruout southern California that natural gas is the most economical and most dependable of all fuels for cooking, water heating, house-heating and for automatic refrigeration. The great increase in sales of modern gas ranges, water heaters, refrigerators and furnaces by up-to-date dealers in every city and town has attracted nation-wide attention during the past few years. We attribute this noteworthy increase in sales to the efficiency and the dependability of modern gas appliances which are the choice of thrifty and discriminating consumers everywhere."

—W. E. W.

all the happiness and prosperity
you deserve—and it will.

When we stopped for the Alpha Beta ad Tuesday Tom Julian was wrapping a twenty-nine pound turkey. Being something to eat, naturally we remarked about how nice it looked and what a nice size it was. "Yes," replied Tom, "it's just the size I would like to take home if I were going to spend Christmas alone." And here we thought we could eat!

It just shows what little things can do. While the big nations of Europe are building guns and war material they are unable to pay their debts to this country, but little Finland is paying hers by making and selling to the world penny boxes of matches. The other nations ought to see the light.

Rid Yourself of Kidney Poisons

Do you suffer burning, scanty or too frequent urination, backache, headache, dizziness, loss of energy, leg pains, swellings and puffiness under the eyes? Are you tired, nervous—feel all unstrung and don't know what is wrong?

Then give some thought to your kidneys. Be sure they function properly for functional kidney disorder permits excess waste to stay in the blood, and to poison and upset the whole system.

Use Doan's Pills. Doan's are for the kidneys only. They are recommended the world over. You can get the genuine, time-tested Doan's at any drug store.

DOAN'S PILLS

WHEN SANTA LOST HIS LIST

Away up north, one Christmas eve,
Old Santa paused, when ready to leave,
To pet his goat, who was munching hay
Next to the reindeer's stalls, they say.

Then he turned about to harness his team
And the goat munched happily something he'd seen:

'Twas Santa's list of presents that night,
And he never missed it, until, in flight,
O'er snow and ice to the lands of the south,
The dear old soul sought to pull it out.

But his hand found nothing, when he reached it back,
Except the gifts in his bulging pack.
Then he whispered low, as he stifled a moan,
"Just wait, by golly, till I get home!"

When I get back the first thing I'll do
Will be to call in the neighbors to eat goat stew!
Now, how in the world will I ever remember
The list I've been making since early November?

Well, I'll just have to try—it's too late to turn back,
And I simply must lighten this load in my pack."

Thus Santa Claus lifted a load from his mind,
Did the best that he could, and went at it blind.
Now let's see how he fared, in taking a chance,
As he dropped off his load, while his reindeer did prance:

Jack, unwrapping his package next morning at dawn,
Found a pair of silk stockings—his language was strong!

Brother Jim got a doll; his sister a train;
While Grandma drew gumboots to keep out the rain.
Aunt Sue got an air gun; little Bob drew a dress;
A nice razor for Alice; ye gods, what a mess!

Uncle Joe got a lunch set; Dad a nice train of cars;
And prim old Aunt Clara a box of cigars.

Grandpa got a rattle, marked "From Mother with love!"
And the gentle old soul nearly went through the roof.

Adding insult to injury, Aunt May got a knife,
And little Jerry a book about married life.

Brother Dick laughed and thought it a joke
'Til he opened his package, then we thought he would choke.
And all of us

Uncle Ed got a doll that could dance a short jig,
And little Willie some slippers, nine sizes too big.
Dear old Aunt Phoebe, just turned eighty-three,
Got a hiking outfit and a pair of new skis.

Dad's cousin James, without a hair on his head,
Got a comb and brush set, and a jar of Pomade.

While his wife, who is quite a religious fanatic,
Received a book explaining the theory of static.

I could go on forever recording mistakes—
Every home in the land shared the very same fate.

This was long, long ago, but never since then
Has Santa ventured far south from his den.
Though he dined on goat stew, in accord with his vow,
He knows to come south would but stir up a row.

So he wisely stays home, and sends out a big crew
Of assistants to handle what he alone used to do.

And though it's expensive, and hurts Santa's purse,
He says it's far better than hiring a nurse.

Float in Pasadena Rose Parade Shows First Motoring Tourists of the Overland Trail

Here, on a great float 32 feet long, of which this is an artist's drawing, the passing of the first tourists over the Overland Trail early in the century is beautifully shown in flowers. This is the second year the dealers of the Long Beach branch of the Ford Motor Company have entered a float in Pasadena's world-famous Tournament of Roses Parade.

WHAT HAS CIRCULATION TO DO WITH ADVERTISING?

Here's the answer to the question—

WHY—do stores display their goods in the windows instead of merely displaying them inside?
BECAUSE—more people pass outside the stores than inside.

Circulation

WHY—does a store on Citrus avenue command a higher rent than one in the residence section?
BECAUSE—more people pass Citrus avenue than they do any named residential section.

Circulation

WHY—does an advertisement in the Covina Argus bring better results?
BECAUSE—it is a newspaper that is read with interest.

Circulation

IN ORDER—to get results your advertisement must be READ.
The more people who read it the more chances it has to get results.

THEREFORE—when you advertise your business it is "good business" to use the Covina Argus.

Huge baskets of yellow chrysanthemums, flanked on either side with candelabra holding tall white tapers, formed a background for the service which was read by Rev. Gordon A. Whipple of Monrovia in the presence of two hundred and fifty relatives and friends. The bride, on the arm of her father, Thomas Strain of Lindsay, gave a charming picture in a gown of ivory satin fashioned princess style with a long train, the only trimming being the yoke, made of real lace. A finger-tip veil, fastened to a tulle halo, formed a soft frame about her face. She carried a showy bouquet of gardenias, orchids and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Lloyd Blackwell as matron of honor, Miss Marjorie Willets, maid of honor, and Mrs. Hoyt Cushman and Miss Audrey Clark as the bridesmaids, wore gowns alike of red crepe with gold chrysanthemums and carried sheaves of chrysanthemums in orchid shades and ribbons tied with orchid taffeta ribbon. Margaret Evans and Nancy Jeanne Shirley, dressed in red, and white dotted swiss dresses made princess style, carried baskets of rose petals which were strewn in the path of the bride.

Stanley Miller attended his brother as best man, and Edgar Egly, Lloyd Blackwell, Hoyt Cushman and Ed Fogg served as ushers.

Following the ceremony Rev. Whipple sang "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and "All for You," accompanied by Mrs. Nelson at the pipe organ. An organ prelude and the processionals were also played by Mrs. Nelson.

Following the nuptials, a reception was held at the home of Mrs. Strain.

Edwards Sisters Make Twin Announcement of Coming Marriages

Coming as a complete surprise to the guests, Miss Ruby Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Edwards of Adams park, announced her engagement to Gerald Chewning, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Chewning of Pomona Hill road, at a delightfully-appointed dessert party given at the home of her parents Saturday afternoon.

On candlelit tables, clever candle favors marked the places for the guests and bore instructions to pull the wick on which the announcement was revealed. Guests invited included Miss Jacqueline Tull, Miss Ruth Goodrich, Miss Joan Hunter, Miss Virginia Gilbert, Miss Janet Knotts, Miss Janet Ingalls, Miss Virginia Deeter, Miss Guinevere Dancer, Miss Lucille Burt, Miss Helen Wilke, Miss Bettye Brandon, Miss Patricia Chastka, Miss Esther Nasti, Miss Carol Chewning, Miss Dorothy Edwards, Mrs. Gene Chewning, Mrs. Robert Timmons, Mrs. Jim Madison and Mrs. Merle Edwards of Covina; Miss Leontine Fink of La Verne; Miss Ruby White of Placentia; Miss Elizabeth Lanthrop of Baldwin Park; and Mrs. Jack Chewning of La Habra.

The guests were entertained during the afternoon by playing "cootie," and the prizes were won by Miss Fink and Miss Dancer. Miss Edwards graduated from Covina high school, attended Pasadena junior college, and is at present employed as secretary for Thomas Reed, attorney, and W. E. McNatt.

Mr. Chewning is an alumnus of the local high school, attended Chaffey junior college for a year, and is employed at La Habra packinghouse. The wedding will take place early in the spring, although no definite date has been decided upon.

Byron Netzley Weds Hollywood Young Woman

The South Hollywood Presbyterian church was the setting on Monday evening at eight o'clock for the wedding of Miss Helen McClean, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. McClean of Hollywood, and Byron Netzley, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Netzley of Bonita avenue.

The impressive service was read by the bride's father in the presence of a large gathering of friends and relatives. Tall white tapers shed a soft radiance on the members of the bridal party, who stood before an altar of greenery and white chrysanthemums.

The bride chose for her gown an Elizabethan model of white satin entrait, with high pleated ruff, with which she wore a finger-tip veil with halo cap. She carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The attendants also wore period models in white crepe and moire and each carried talisman roses. Miss Margaret McClean, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Barbara Reese Mashburn and Miss Marie Phelan of Whittier attended as bridesmaids. Mary Jane Johnson was flower girl and Wallace Netzley carried the ring on a small white satin cushion. Earl Netzley served his brother as best man and the ushers included William Bonner of Covina, Clifford Coffman of Montebello, Dr. Charles McClean of Banning, and Robert McClean of Los Angeles.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at 636 Mariposa avenue for one hundred and fifty guests.

Three Girls Continue Attention to Invalid

For more than four years Mrs. Ellen Davis has been a helpless invalid in the home of her sister, Mrs. C. M. Wood, and during all those years her young friends, Werdna and Mary K. Feist and Vera Warren, who have grown to be young ladies in that time, have been thoughtful and kind in their attentions to their appreciative "shut-in." As usual they came with their gifts, their recitations and carols to brighten her Christmas hours.

Six Hundred Attend Benefit Performance

Six hundred adults and youngsters were in attendance Friday afternoon of last week at the benefit performance given at the Covina theater and sponsored by the Woman's club, with Mrs. Arson Boyd in charge. Mr. Knotts again donated the film and theater. Admittance was gained with a gift of food or a toy, which were later distributed to the David and Margaret home and the Mexican settlement at Irwindale.

TOWN CHATTER

There were Santas and Santas at various affairs this Christmas, but Irvan and Russ seemed to be the most graceful ones. At the Hollywood club Christmas party each gift was presented to the guests accompanied by intricate dance steps. My, oh, my!

Was Ellen Scofield surprised when in hurrying from a friend's house to return home for a package she discovered that Santa had spirited her old car away and left a sparkling new stream-lined affair in its place!

Ole Man Stork certainly knows what he is about. When flying toward the general hospital in Los Angeles on Friday of last week he decided that Covina looked rather good to him and he presented the Mexican couple, in the racing with time car, with a plump infant right on Holt avenue, with hundreds of cars whizzing by, as its introduction into the maelstrom of civilization.

If you should have noticed two wildly waving legs protruding from the fish pond in front of Connie Dunn's home on Christmas eve, think nothing of it, for it was one of the girls trying to get out after falling in headfirst while cleaning out the mud.

WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO KNOW... what young man about town is busily collecting the jewelry that he loaned to about every cute wren in town... what fella when shopping for a gift for the wife told the salesperson when she showed him a frilly negligee that it was alright for a man's secretary, but that he was buying something for his wife... and what young man when he remembered that he had forgotten his heart interest's present nearly ran the family ragged trying to buy something after the shops had closed.

FASHION TIPS

by HELEN

Here's to you, and a Happy New Year! Let us help you select an appropriate gown for your big celebration on New Year's eve. Whether you entertain at home or splurge at the Biltmore Bowl, the Grove, or the Florentine room at the Beverly Wilshire, we suggest that you start the new year right with a striking formal or dinner dress.

Cliffon is the last word, and we have a flame-colored frock, cleverly shirred at the neckline and simply cut with a naive ruffle across the front hem. With this we suggest a gold kid or sequin bag, flame cliffon hankie, tiny gold flame flowers for the hair, and other matching gold accessories.

For the Florentine room, and dining and dancing, we have a darling pink slipper satin formal, suavely made with a slightly flaring skirt, wide narrow and a cluster of fluttering French flowers at the neckline and a well-cut décolletage.

A day at the races demands a period of shopping for a smart-looking tailored suit, for they are predominant at the track this year, and good-looking bright red, green, black, brown, or white accessories. We specialize in clothes of this type!

We wish to thank our many friends for their patronage throughout the year and trust they will continue to put their problems of seasonable clothes in our hands.

"ADORABLE SHOP" 134 West Foothill Blvd. Azusa

Santa Claus and telling him of his desires for Christmas, was questioned by his mother as to what he had told Santa, but he refused to state, for he remarked that he had told Santa and he was going to wait and see what happened!

SEEN AROUND... Del Adair and the charming missus tripping the light fantastic at a recent affair... Jack Hutchinson passing out the cigars in celebration of the arrival of a son, William Brown, to a sea of Covinans at the Santa Anita track matching their expressions with the results of the races.

How would you like to get a check for one million dollars for Christmas? Impossible? Not on your life! Henry Persons got one thru the mail from his uncle, but freely admits it's a joke.

OUR VOTE GOES... to the local Girl Scout organization and the directors, for not only did they sing carols for Christmas festivities and present an original play, "The Girl Scout's Christmas Spirit" over KECA on December 26, but spent hours on Christmas eve taking Christmas trees, decorations and numerous gifts and sweets to the homes where the youngsters were to have been denied those joys.

We think that one of the grandest Christmases had in our town was that by Milt Phillee, who lay flat on his tummy most of the day with his son, Kerry, and watched the new electric train go around.

Just to remind you that Mrs. Gene McNatt (singing under her maiden name, Frances Havlin) is to sing over KECA on January 6th instead of the previously-planned date, December 25th. Be sure to call in your votes.

HAPPY NEW YEAR TO YOU AND YOU AND YOU!

Survey Under Way to Consolidate Governments

First step in what may prove to be a county-wide movement for co-ordination of duplicated city and county governmental functions, a survey of the various departments of Sierra Madre city was under way this week by the county bureau of efficiency. Object of the inquiry is to determine what departments of that city's government may be taken over and administered by the county at a saving to the taxpayers.

The survey was ordered by the board Monday in a resolution introduced by Supervisor Roger W. Jessup and referred to Chairman H. C. Legg, in whose district Sierra Madre lies. After studying the matter for several days, Legg recommended the survey.

At S. Myers, business manager of Sierra Madre, and other city officials appeared before the board urging adoption of the motion to authorize the survey. Myers has been an advocate of the elimination of duplication in government for many years. He said that if the survey revealed the county could economically take over most of the functions of city government, and his own job was thus eliminated, "it would be alright" with him.

Sierra Madre, by its action, is the first city to take advantage of new legislation which was passed by the session of the state lawmakers. This provides for contracts between cities and the county to pay for services furnished by the central governmental body.

Sierra Madre, with its 6000 inhabitants and its tax rate of $2.40 on each $100 assessed valuation, is comparable to many other cities in the county and the result of the survey there will be watched by officials of a score of municipalities, it was said.

Purchasing Agent Explains County Buying Policy

The policy of the county purchasing department already "corresponds very closely" to the spirit of a resolution recently adopted by the Los Angeles chamber of commerce containing recommendations for purchasing methods to be used by the forty-four cities of the county, the county, state and federal government departments.

This was the declaration of Purchasing Agent H. E. Russell, in a letter on file this week with the board of supervisors.

Regarding the recommendation for

"COLLEGIATE" IS FEATURE AT FOX FOR NEW YEAR'S EVE

Shirley Temple, the Fox theater's Christmas present to everyone, will be shown for the last time tomorrow (Saturday). "The Little Rebel" is truly Shirley's finest picture and offers her unlimited opportunity for the singing, dancing and dramatic ability that is hers. Immediately following "The Little Rebel" on Saturday is "Whisper" with Myrna Loy and Spencer Tracy, and the preview feature, "Another Face."

New Year's eve promises to be one of the biggest nights ever held at the Fox theater. The feature of the evening will be the funniest comedy that has come out in a long time, "Collegiate," with such stars as Jack Oakie, Joe Penner, Frances Langford. The customary favors, such as noisemakers, serpentine, etc., will be handed out with a lavish hand. Tickets are now on sale for this big New Year's eve show.

TEN YEARS AGO

The Covina high school football team, champions of southern California, are to meet Bakersfield on Saturday for the state title. The starting members for Covina include Scofield, Matney, Manley, Ashton, Starr, Van Vliet, Kerckhoff, Huggins, Daniels, Needham, Riecke.

(From 25 years ago column, making 35 years preceding present date): The Amphion society held its regular monthly meeting Saturday at Mountain View, the home of Mrs. M. N. Ruddock and daughter.

"Little Annie Rooney" featuring Mary Pickford, is Manager Leonard's offering at the theater for the next five days.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Thirty-eight cases of disturbing the peace have been filed as the aftermath of a clash between deputy sheriffs and employees of the Sunset Telephone company on a strip of land which is in dispute as to whether the telephone men have a right to place poles on it.

A special thru Pacific Electric train will run at 8:10 Monday morning to take Covina people to the Tournament of Roses parade at Pasadena.

J. D. Fields of the Ax Billy show purchased the first fore-door E-M-F touring car sold at the automobile show in Los Angeles Wednesday.

Ordinance Would Regulate Used Car Dealers

Adoption of an ordinance to regulate more closely the operation of used car dealers in unincorporated sections of Los Angeles county was urged upon the board of supervisors this week by the Auto Dealers association of southern California.

The association urged that the county require the posting of a $2500 bond guaranteeing delivery of title to automobiles sold by used car dealers, and that payment of $200 for a permit to engage in business in the county also be required. The suggestion was made "solely in the interests of protecting the public," it was stated.

"In the unincorporated areas of the county it is easy for an unscrupulous person to place a stock of cars on a lot, sell them, and then disappear," the association's letter stated. "It costs only a few dollars to get a license in the county territory, while it costs $200 in the city of Los Angeles, and $25 for a $2500 bond."

"The county territory is a fertile field for that scourge of business that we have come to call the chiseler."

No action can be taken by the supervisors until next Monday at the earliest, as the board adjourned after its one session Monday for the balance of the week. It is probable that a public hearing will be held before serious consideration is given to adoption of the ordinance proposed by the association.

Mrs. Anson C. Boyd of Philadelphia is spending the holiday in the home of her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Anson Boyd, of Reeder street.

Motor Company Reveals Big Gain in Sales

Pontiac Motor company continues to show huge gains in retail sales when compared with similar periods of former years. During the first ten days of December Pontiac dealers delivered 694 new cars compared with 694 during the same period last year and a total for December, 1933, of 1704.

Retail sales of Pontiac cars in the last three months this year will practically equal those of the first three months of the year, according to A. J. Hutcheson, general sales manager, which is another record achievement. "Similar conditions apparently exist all thru the industry," said Mr. Gilpin, "which shows to what great lengths the motor car business has gone to even up production and sales curves and eliminate those periods of the past when employment has been at a low level."

SOOTHING SYRUP: Maximo Royce and J. Frank Grimes, President of the Independent Growers' Alliance, agree it's soothing to the appetite, especially on a stock of wheateakes of a winter's morning. A. H. Packard, head of the Vermont State Farm Bureau, is doing the pouring. The Vermont producers have formed a co-operative association to advertise and promote the use of their famous product nationally.

GEOGRAPHY'S HIGH AND LOW IN SIGHT FROM SAME SPOT

HOW HIGH IS UP? The ancient stage wheeze comes to life when one stands at "Bad Water" on the floor of Death Valley, California, 276 feet below sea level, and looks off on a clear day to the northwest where Mt. Whitney, King of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, rears his snowy head, 14,501 feet above sea level. The two points, the lowest and the highest in continental United States, are within sight of each other. Death Valley, one of the world's most dramatic scenic spectacles, available to tourist travel only in the winter months, was created a National Monument by Congress in February, 1933.
